Aims, Scope, and Audience

Endocrinology Research and Practice aims to publish studies of the high scientific value and encourages the submission of high-quality research that advances the understanding and treatment of endocrinological and metabolic conditions.

Endocrinology Research and Practice covers a wide range of topics related to thyroid, obesity, diabetes, osteoporosis, lipid metabolism and pituitary. The journal is interested in publishing original research that addresses important clinical questions and advances the understanding and treatment of these conditions. This may include studies on the effectiveness of different treatments, new diagnostic tools or techniques, and novel approaches to endocrinology and metabolism. Starting from July 2022, Endocrinology Research and Practice does not consider manuscripts on pediatric endocrinology for publication, unless they are related with the adulthood transition.

Endocrinology Research and Practice publishes clinical articles, case reports, reviews, scientific letters, short reports, technical reports and letters to the editor. Conference proceedings may also be considered for publication.

Studies based on animal experiments or conducted with entirely in vitro molecular methods (excluding translational human studies) will not be considered for publication.

The target audience of the journal includes healthcare professionals, physicians, and researchers who are interested in or working in the endocrinology and metabolism field, and related disciplines.
